A Fatal Accident.

Monday afternoon little Wade, the son of Mr. Luther Craps, met with a fatal accident, while in discharge of his duties at the Lexington cotton mill. Just how and when the accident occurred is shrouded in mystery as no one saw it. The consensus of opinion however is, that while sweeping the floor of the carding room he in some way became entangled in the belts and was violently thrown against the cards. When found by the foreman of the spinning room, he was lying on the floor in an unconscious condition, his skull was fractured in several places and he was bleeding profusely. Medical aid was immediately summoned and Dr. Hendrix did all he could to relieve the sufferings of the little fellow, but all to no purpose. Death had already set his seal on the clay tenement and that night the immortal spirit took its everlasting flight to that mansion on high not made with hands, eternal in the heavens. The remains were interred at the old home near Summit. To the grief stricken parents and sorrowing relatives, we extend our heartfelt sympathies.

A Card.
To my numerous friends in Lexington county:

I see in the candidate column of the Lexington Dispatch that some unknown friend (or friends) has announced me as a candidate for County Superintendent of Education. I sincerely thank my friends for the confidence they have in me and for the interest they manifest in my welfare, but my church duties make it impossible for me to engage in other work. I, therefore, ask my friends to allow me to respectfully decline the honor conferred upon me.

I appreciate the kindness shown me, but feel unable to undertake the worry of a political campaign.

Very Kindly,
E. L. Lybrand.

Prohibition vs. Liquor.

To the Editor of the Dispatch:

I have always made it a rule to take no active part in politics, discuss or practice the same, and more especially through the columns of newspapers, but as this great liquor question has been agitating the minds of the public for so long, and so much has been said, both pro and con, as to dispensary, prohibition and high license, I take the liberty to give my views on this all important question. The advocates of the dispensary, and especially some of our Representatives at the Legislature, have been preaching the doctrine that only the old-time saloon keepers and a few broken down preachers are the only ones who are now advocating prohibition, and I, as one who prefers prohibition to dispensary, say that such is not the case.

The suffrage of the people at the ballot box in 1892 settled that question then, and the prohibition element is stronger today than it was in 1892.

I first advocate high license. Second prohibition. Third dispensary. I advocate high license because it is the only way to stop the violation of the liquor traffic. Under this most infamous dispensary law the act is being grossly and notoriously violated every day, Sunday not excepted.

You can go into any town or at most any county cross road and buy all the liquor you want, and more especially on Sundays. Under the license system with a revenue the great evil can be checked to a certain extent, but under the dispensary law it is impossible for small towns to collect a tax sufficient to protect the morals of the town and country.

I have been a close observer of the dispensary law ever since its enactment and I find that morally it has been a curse, and financially a failure.

From 1872 to 1889, when license was granted in my town from two to three bar rooms did business and the town received an income that enabled the town authorities to employ policemen for the protection of the morals of the people at large. Since the dispensary law has been in operation the people have paid higher taxes, the courts have been overtaxed with criminal business, which grew out of the dispensary law, yet some say it is just what we need. I am sorry to say that since the dispensary law has been in operation that murder and bloodshed have been perpetrated in this town more the last five years than when licensed bar rooms were operated for nearly twenty years. Dispensary law and free liquor without police regulations is the cause of men and their wives and children being separated, men being in prison, fathers and mothers being in distress, yet it is a godly law.

We have as good men in this community as South Carolina ever produced, yet they are daily buying liquor from parties who they know are violating the dispensary law, so my sentiment is, if we can't have the law changed to high license let us have prohibition. The law can be just as easily enforced against the whisky traffic if we have prohibition as under the present law.

If the dispensary law has benefited the tax payers of South Carolina I have never been able to see the place. Our State is over one hundred thousand dollars behind and according to the Auditor's report of our county we are minus of $2,800 in our assessment compared with last year. So you see, with this blessed dispensary law and its profits, we are getting deeper in the mire, so let the voters wake up in this old palmeto State, go to the polls and vote for men who will represent us on one of these two lines, first for high license, second for prohibition, and wipe from the statutes of South Carolina this infamous dispensary act.

W. M. Wilson.
Peak, S. C., July 16, 1898.

Sick headache, biliousness, constipation and all liver and stomach troubles can be quickly cured by using those famous little pills known as DeWitt's Little Early Risers. They are pleasant to take and never gripe. J. E. Kaufmann.

Every man can tame a shrew (save that hath her.)
E. C. Blanks, of Lewisville, Texas, writes that one box of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve was worth $50.00 to him. It cured his piles of ten years standing. He advises others to try it. It also cures eczema, skin diseases and obstinate sores. J. E. Kaufmann.

Farmers Institute.

Professors Furman, Shiver, DuPre and Hart, of the South Carolina experimental station, at Clemson College, conducted a farmers' institute at this place last Monday, in the court house.

Quite a number of representative farmers were present to hear the specialists in the different branches of farm work discuss their subjects, but there was not as many present as there should have been when the interest and importance of the institute are considered. The questions asked the lecturers were of such a nature as to show that the audience was an attentive one and the people present deeply interested in the subjects discussed.

Hon. C. M. Efrid was requested to act as chairman, and on taking the chair, he stated that the person who was at the head of the institute was prevented from being present on account of the illness of his wife.

Hon. C. M. Efrid introduced Prof. Furman, who gave an interesting talk on the origin, aims and purposes of the experimental stations. He declared that while Clemson College and the experimental station were at the same place they were two separate and distinct institutions. He referred to the history of agricultural colleges and experimental stations and what they had accomplished since their organization, and the farmers should utilize the experiments already made. The farmers should organize themselves into clubs. There is to be a grand institute of a week's duration at Clemson College, commencing on August 8th, and a club should be immediately organized so as to elect at least five delegates to attend this institute. He promised that the experimental station would answer any question which might be sent in concerning pests and the best remedies for their extermination or any question of farm work.

Prof. Shiver gave an interesting and instructive lecture on commercial fertilizers. He showed the value of the cow pea for enriching the impoverished soil and pointed out many ways by which the farmers could save money in the purchase and use of commercial fertilizers and urged upon his hearers the importance of saving and properly covering their stable and lot manure. His lecture was practical and logical and we are satisfied that if due attention would be given his ideas on farm work and supplying the necessary elements for the feeding of plant life, our farmers would be greatly benefited from a financial standpoint as well as from an intellectual one. At the conclusion of Prof. Shiver's remarks the institute adjourned for dinner.

Prof. DuPre after the dinner hour, entertained the audience with a capital talk on horticulture, and he brought out many ideas which were new to many of us. He described numerous destructive insects which did great damage to fruits, berries and garden truck and explained the various remedies employed in their extermination. We were particularly pleased with his remarks and we believe that he has awakened in many the desire to pay more attention to the cultivation of fruits and garden truck than they have done in the past.

Prof. Hart was then introduced and lectured on the subject of Dairy and took occasion to embrace in his remarks the care of stock and cattle, their disease and their care. His lecture was replete with useful information to our people on these subjects and lessons were learned from him which will be put to practical use in the art of butter making. He touched upon the importance of saving and making manure and the proper way in which it should be done.

Upon the whole the institute was a decided success and there will go out from it lesson which will have a wholesome effect in farm management and many a waste which has been making a big hole in the profits of the farm will be stopped and farm work will be more attractive and profitable than it has ever been.

We predict that when the next institute is held here, its session will be largely attended by farmers from every section of the county, as these institutes are becoming more and more popular as their objects are better understood and appreciated.

Immediately after the adjournment of the institute, a farmer's club was organized, the purpose of which is to be an auxiliary to the experimental station at Clemson College. Mr. W. W. Barr, one of our most progressive farmers and a successful business man, was elected President and Mr. Willie D. George, Secretary. The President then appointed the following persons as delegates to the institute to be held at Clemson College, beginning on August 8th and lasting a week or ten days: Maj. J. H. Counts, N. B. Wannamaker, E. J. George, J. Walter Dreher and James C. Hope. These delegates will be required to pay railroad fare only one way, about 50 cents per day for board and will be lodged free. The President hopes that none of the gentlemen named will decline to go, but if it is so that any cannot attend, he will be immediately notified so that the vacancy can be filled.

Atlanta Trip.

A representative of the Dispatch accompanied the old soldiers on their trip to Atlanta last week, to attend the reunion of the veterans and had a most delightful and enjoyable time.

The route lay along one of the most beautiful and picturesque portions of this State and Georgia and abounded in glorious landscapes and magnificent rugged crags and mountain peaks. The Travelling Passenger Agent of the Southern system, Mr. J. B. Heyward was happy in his selection of the route for the veterans and accompanied them on their trip. He was indefatigable in his efforts to make the party have a pleasant time and by his unceasing and uniform kindness and attention contributed largely to the enjoyment of the trip, both going and returning. Mr. S. H. Hardwick, Assistant General passenger agent, has placed the management of the Dispatch under obligations for favors and courtesies. He makes the comfort and pleasure of the travelling public his study and as a consequence he is very popular.

The sessions of the veterans were held in the great auditorium and the veterans captured Mayor Collier of Atlanta and Gov. Atkinson of Georgia or these whole souled and hospitable officials captured the veterans, we know not which, but anyhow Atlanta was stormed and its citizens willingly capitulated and opened wide the gates to entertain "the enemy," her friends. It is estimated that there were at least 50,000 visitors present. Addresses were made by Gen. Evans, Commandant of the Georgia Division; Gen. John B. Gordon, the battle scarred chief of the veterans; Gen. Hooker, of Mississippi; Hon. T. B. Fidler, Chaplain Jones, Mayor Collier, Col. W. A. Hemphill and Governor Atkinson. Every one was on pleasure bent and enjoyed themselves to their utmost capacity. The second day of the Decatur, six miles, out from Atlanta was visited and the old battle grounds beyond the city were viewed. Returning to Atlanta, Fort McPherson was visited. There is stationed at this Fort about 5,000 Boys in Blue, who were being drilled, inured and hardened to the privations and hardships of army life. There were many wounded soldiers in the hospital who took part in the battle at El Caney in Santiago de Cuba and some Spanish prisoners. Scenes incident to the battle of Cyclorama were reproduced with charming and pleasing effect. Atlanta has a magnificent stone capital finished beautifully in and outside and it is truly an imposing structure and one that would be an ornament to any State.

Our route was from Lexington to Columbia, thence to Spartanburg. At this place we had to wait several hours and took advantage to visit many points of interest in this Pearl of the Piedmont. We then took the Air Line for Atlanta and passed through Greenville, Seneca and many other beautiful towns. We returned home Saturday.

The following is the party which went from this county: Maj. J. H. Counts, H. C. Nunamaker, Ed P. Smith, Westley Mathias, Dr. T. R. Geiger, Jesse McCartha, Benjamin Rowl and wife, D. T. Hare and wife, R. B. Barr, H. P. Bouknight, E. F. Strother, J. M. D. Harman and wife and Miss Vernie Harman.

Gen. Gordon was re-elected Commandant and the balance of the officers were also re-elected. Charleston was the place selected to hold the next re-union.

Those who suffer from impaired digestion and weak stomachs, and on account of this have a peculiar dread of chills and fever, will be glad to learn that a cure for chills and fever is now manufactured and universally sold which does not injure the stomach but actually benefits it. It is Ramon's Peppin Chili Tonic. Tasteless and guaranteed. 50c. For sale by G. M. Harman and J. E. Kaufmann.

Every man believes himself an exceptional character.

Success—Worth Knowing.
40 years' success in the South, proves Hughes' Tonic a great remedy for Chills and all Malarial Fevers. Better than Quinine. Guaranteed, try it. At druggists, 50c. and $1.00 bottles.

Rev. John B. Wilson.

Marion, S. C., June 30, 1898.

Mr. B. F. Elliott, Marion, S. C.,
Dear Sir: I take pleasure in saying that the "ROCK HILL" BUGGY I purchased of you more than three years ago has given satisfaction. I have run it about fifteen thousand miles and it is still in good running order. I have not paid out one dollar on it for repairs during all this time. Very truly, yours,
JOHN B. WILSON.

NOTE—"ROCK HILL" Buggies are made with the greatest care and from the best material obtainable, and are warranted as represented. They cannot, therefore, be sold at the price of "cheap john" stuff made hurriedly, painted quick and thrown together. But the advance in price is so very little above the Waters truck that no sensible man will object to pay it in order to get something he knows is the best. Sold by all first class dealers in every town and city in the South. When you need a buggy insist upon your dealer supplying you with a "ROCK HILL." If he will not do it because the profit to him is nothing like what it would be on the cheap-trap stuff, write us. We'll see you get a genuine "ROCK HILL" Buggy at the right price.
